ERINDALE CONSIDERS WITHDRAWAL FROM S.A.C.

Paul Kochberg, president of S.A.G.E. announced on Monday that a motion passed in a special meeting of the executive on Friday the 7th. proposed a split from SAC.

Kochberg said that the high cost of membership to SAC balanced against the small number of benefits derived from it was the reason for the decision

He explained that the "Varsity" and Radio Varsity are the only palpable advantages which Erindale gets. The separation from the main campus deprives our students from all the rest. This includes such things as special courses, clubs, societies, guest speakers and so on.

He made it very clear that a complete separation from the downtown campus is not the goal of the motion. He hopes that some sort of associate membership scheme can be realized. Steve Langdon, president of SAC has however flatly rejected this idea; his first reaction to the proposal was in essence "all or nothing"

Kochberg pointed out that if a complete separation was effected then Erindale could make a separate arrangement with the "Varsity" to it available to us next year.

The cost of membership to SAC is presently $12 per student out of their fees. SAC is now toying with the idea of a $2 hike in the fees to help them meet their tight budget.

To effect this withdrawal from SAC a referendum must be presented to the students of Erindale. According to the constitution 50% of the students must vote at this time and at least 75% of the voters must be in favour of the motion to pass it.

Before the decision is made concerning whether there will be a referendum, Kochberg plans to meet with Langdon to clarify the situation for the SAC president and discuss other possible ways out of the situation.

If S.A.G.E. goes ahead with the proposal the referendum will be held on March 4th.

SAC MEETING HERE TONIGHT

The Students Administrative Council will be holding their meeting here in the cafeteria tonight at 7:30.

This promises to be a very exciting meeting following hard upon the confrontation of Clark Kerr by the Toronto Student Movement lead by Andy Wernick in the Museum Theatre last Wednesday.

Possible other items on the agenda will be the budget. SAC is presently trying to peel off $10,000 from their overburdened $243,000 budget. Monday's Varsity outlined the possible cuts and they included the following; the UofT Chorus was abandoned completely, The debating Society was cut off, and the Blue and White Society suffered a $1500 pruning. At the same time the Radio Varsity was left untouched. Currently this group gobbles up $16,410 a year.

This opportunity to watch top-flight student government action should not be missed.

BEAUTY CONTEST SPARKS ADVERSE OPINION

There are obviously some people in the college who are not too keen about the upcoming Miss Erindale Contest. Yesterday these two satirical poems were pressed into my hands by a pair of sensitive young things. Their opinions are as follows:

QUID NUNC

(To be sung to the tune of "The times they are a-changin'") Head 'em up and move 'em out!

Come gather round queenies
Wherever you roam
And admit that the mirror
Is causing your moan;
The Erindale boys
Have been into the foam-
Your bodies and minds they are arranging
They're picking out flaws
Your disguises are blown Your mistaken self image is changing.

Your character is ancient
Your lines they are worn
Your values are shaken
And tired out and torn
The bird that you were
Has escaped and is flown
The truth is you're frightened of Being
You've been putting it on
Since the day you were born
Now it's time you were a-seeing.

-Frank Stevens

BEAUTY A BEAST

All the boys are going to shout.
Put your beauty on the line;
For one year all will be fine
If you will be Miss '69.

An auction or a cattle show?
Take your pick. For all will know
Size, proportion, shape and glow.

You can win if you will pray
That you're the one whom all will say
Was the best upon the quay.

Too bad that looks alone
Decide the winner of the throne
Inner beauty, none do see -
Outer artwork comes too free.

From the crowd comes harassment
To give the girls embarrassment
All the girls are nervous though
To think that votes they'll get will only be two.
(ed. note - Lovely rhyme Dear)

But who cares who'll win or lose?
For a hint here are the clues:
Charm is inside, where none can see
The loser might be the best there be.

The author of "Beauty a Beast" for those candidates of the Miss Erindale Contest who want or need a rationalization, is not in the running for the title.

DAVID BLACKWOOD: HERE TODAY

David Blackwood will talk about his art which is currently being shown in the hall upstairs. He will be in the main foyer at 12;00 noon and everyone is invited to the "Sit-in With Blackwood"
